Join the Tuolumne County Resource Conservation District's Stream Team, a group of local volunteers, monitor water quality in our streams. Learn water quality testing procedures, gain understanding of local environmental issues, and help your community collect scientific information that will be used to improve and protect surface water quality. Volunteers sample water quality at 26 sites throughout the county each month. All equipment is provided and no special skills are required.

Water Quality is monitored by measuring:

Temperature

pH

Electrical Conductivity

Dissolved Oxygen

Turbidity

Bacteria
